Worship Leader's Letter

Curbar Edge on a wild, windy day is, in my opinion, a wonderful place to walk. The views on all sides are stunning whether they be the parklands and fountain at Chatsworth, the rocky outcrops and moors looking towards Sheffield, or down onto Cliff College and the river. At the beginning of my regular walks on the Edge is a rough boulder of rock with the inscription Heb.7:25 When I eventually looked up this verse from the book of Hebrews it read 'And so He is able, now and always, to save those who come to God through Him because He lives for ever to plead with God for them'. I think this verse is especially helpful for November - a month of remembering and looking back, but also looking forward to the future.

The first Sunday in November is All Souls'. Coping with bereavement can be one of the hardest things any of us has to face. Particularly in the first year after loss, it can be difficult to sum up feelings and thoughts. A funeral service can sometimes pass by in a blur, because emotion is high. At our All Souls' services we want to offer those who have been bereaved, particularly in the last twelve months, opportunity to share in a service of thanksgiving and remembrance at church. All those whose funerals have taken place in our parish churches in the last year will be remembered and named during the services. Everyone is welcome to come and give thanks for loved ones lost over the years.

Remembrance Sunday services give us the chance to honour those men and women who have given their lives for their country - for us. Not just in the two world wars, but in recent and ongoing conflicts.

23rd November (next before Advent) is now designated the festival of Christ the King. One organisation welcoming this is the Servants of Christ the King (SCK). The object of the organisation, founded in 1943, is simply to serve Christ better. One of their members wrote "The important thing about SCK is that it is not so much a group or a movement even, but a way of being. I feel it is very fundamental to the Christian life to learn how to 'let God in on our lives', and to support one another" The Sunday before Advent used to be called 'Stir up Sunday' because the Collect for that day begins 'Stir up we beseech Thee, O Lord, the wills of Thy faithful people'. In the days when plum puddings used to be made at home more than they are now, Stir Up Sunday was the day chosen for making the Christmas pudding and all the members of the family would take a turn at stirring the mixture.

This brings us to the first Sunday of the new church year -Advent Sunday. The word 'Advent' comes from the Latin 'Adventus', meaning 'Coming', and the period of Advent (which lasts until Christmas Eve) is regarded by the Church as a time of preparation for the great festival of the Nativity.

As we make our way towards Advent, let us look back, and then forward, with Him.

Best wishes,
Jaret

Christian Aid "Teatime"

The total raised was £108.89 and one project the money will support is in Sri Lanka where Chitrani Namanathan is the leader of a woman's group at the Kobbsnills (tea) Estate. Since Christian Aid's partner the Institute for Social Development has been working with the women there, many have become literate and more aware of their rights. "Most importantly, I now have the courage to confront management and negotiate better conditions". Christian Aid believes in strengthening people to find their own solutions to the problems they face. They do whatever is needed to support poor people and their communities, whether it's speaking out against the causes of poverty or funding vital work on the ground. The generosity of supporters means they are currently able to support over 600 partner organisations around the world as they work towards ending the injustice of poverty.

TOUFIC - our sponsored child in Lebanon

As we begin to think about Christmas, please spare a thought for Toufic and the other children at his residential school. A card, small, lightweight gift such as stickers or bookmarks and/or a donation for Christmas will mean so much. Please send to Biblelands, PC Box 50, High Wycombe, Bucks HP15 7QU and put reference number 120995/CCM/007 on everything. Cheques should be made payable to 'Biblelands'.

Used postage stamps

These are collected and sent to various charities. Please trim the stamps leaving a narrow border of envelope. There are collecting bags at St. Bartholomew's, St. Luke's & St. Paul's Quarnford. The stamps represent a simple way for all of us to contribute to the welfare of others without cost to ourselves. Please collect your used stamps and put them in one of the church bags.

The Last Post and Reveille

The military have used bugle calls from Roman times, but they were officially introduced to the British army by George 11 (1760–1820).

The last post has passed down through history and is universally recognised as part of the impressive rites of a military funeral

Reveille was composed by Franz Joseph Hayden (1732-1809), taking its name from the old French 'to wake again'. Interestingly, it is not Reveille which is played at remembrance services; the whole piece is too long. Rather, a shortened version known as Rouse is used.

There is eternal symbolism in the solemn act of remembrance. The Last Post forms a lament and valediction. Respectful silence follows. Then, triumphantly, the silence is broken with a call to rise again. Paul wrote, "The trumpet will sound and the dead will be raised." (1 Corinthians 15:52) Resurrection faith is encapsulated in this moment.

Prayer

Grant, O Lord, to all who are bereaved, the spirit of faith and courage, that they may have the strength to meet the days to come with steadfastness and patience; not sorrowing as those without hope, but in thankful remembrance of Thy great goodness in past years, and in the sure expectation of a joyful reunion in the heavenly places; and this we ask in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

From the Readership

What a wonderful way to explain it

A sick man turned to his doctor, as he was preparing to leave the examination room, and said, "Doctor, I am afraid to die. Tell me what lies on the other side".

Very quietly, the doctor said, "I don't know".

"You don't know? You, a Christian man, do not know what is on the other side?"

The doctor was holding the handle of the door, on the other side of which came a sound of scratching and whining, and as he opened the door, a dog sprang into the room and leaped on him with an eager show of gladness.

Turning to the patient, the doctor said, "Did you notice my dog? He's never been in this room before. He didn't know what was inside. He knew nothing except that his master was here, and when the door opened, he sprang in without fear. I know little of what is on the other side of death, but I do know one thing I know my Master is there and that is enough".

From the Manse

Dear Friends,

I wandered into the church hall after the Harvest Thanksgiving at Hollinsclough and was told to sit down and enjoy my harvest tea. Being an obedient person, and the tea looking delicious, I did as I was told - and thankfully. Looking around I was thankful for the familiar faces who were already tucking into their ham salads and who had come to share in our harvest; thankful for the band of workers bustling around with their usual kindness and efficiency; and thankful for food to eat and tea to drink.

Yet, I'm conscious of how much I often take for granted and the people I never thank. Sometimes I take for granted that I live in a country where I can vote, protest, and not live in fear of the night-time knock on the door and forget those who have fought and died for my freedom. I forget those who make the decision and do the work which keeps our transport running, electricity supplied, and food in the shops. I can take for granted the older people who give me time, inquire about my well-being with kindly tact, share their stories and tell me they remember me in their prayers.

In the next few weeks there will be special times to remember and be thankful. All Saints Day on November 1st is traditionally a time to remember those we have loved and to give thanks to God for all that they have been to us. A few days later, on November 9th, it is Remembrance Sunday when we recall those who have been killed in war and those who have experienced its physical, mental and emotional pain.

But why does thankfulness matter? In our day to day lives, thankfulness for family and friends, for little kindness and gifts of thoughtfulness enriches and deepens our relationship with each other. On the other hand, Sandra Fach makes the interesting observation that "ingratitude is an eye disease every bit as much as it is a heart disease. It sees only flaws, scars and scarcity." Where there is no thankfulness everything around us seems colourless, useless and disappointing. Life loses its wonder and significance and becomes pointless.

At the heart of Christian worship is thanksgiving centred upon the constant and never-failing love of God revealed in Jesus. It is a love for all people in every place and age, a love that forgives and creates new possibilities for our lives. So whether it is in the saddest time or the time of well-being, we give thanks for God's everyday gifts and for the indestructible love that holds and guides us.

Through such thanksgiving we open ourselves to the richness of the life God wants for us!

Christ's peace be with you
